CONTRACT CONVERTING MEETS CUSTOMER DEMAND WITH PRECISION CUSTOM SLITTING AND FAST TURNAROUND

Firm Offers Instant Capacity and Capability to Customers In-House Operations

Greenville, WI (March 2, 2007) – Contract Converting specializes in precision slitting and rewinding, roll finishing and packaging to help customers turn large orders, manage seasonal production spikes and service new customers. The firm's precision slitters/rewinders run all grades of paper, tissue, board stocks, films, foils, laminates, non-wovens, printed and unprinted materials. Knowledgeable customer service specialists and 24-hour order shipment sets Contract Converting apart from the competition.

The recent addition of a Kampf lightweight, film winder has expanded the firm's technical capabilities beyond those of most converters. The company's capabilities include duplex/center surface slitting, two-drum surface slitting, film winding, and roll doctor winding. With Web width capabilities in excess of 80 inches, and slitting as narrow as 2 inches, Contract Converting provides custom slitting for almost any requirement.

In addition to custom slitting and 24-hour turnaround for shipment of orders, several leading pressure sensitive manufacturers utilize Contract Converting as a slitting and rewinding distribution center for their customers' orders. The company's knowledgeable personnel help to ensure every customer's order is packaged, labeled and shipped to their exact specifications.

Contract Converting also offers a variety of custom packaging options to meet special product or customer requirements. Whether palletized, suspension packed or stretch wrapped, the firm provides custom packaging and material handling for every potential packaging need.
